

Stroud Union Directors To Pay Social Security Costs

Agree To Annexation Of Land

STROUD Union school directors last night agreed to pay full 1955-56 school year Social Security costs on 40 employees not covered by the State Teachers Retirement System.

Board members also: Said they have no objection to annexation of Monroe County Housing Authority property off W. Main St. by Stroudsburg borough. The land is now part of Stroud township.

Accepted the resignation of two teachers and hired four new ones. Awarded contracts for coal and fuel oil to low bidders.

The agreement on the part of the board to finance current Social Security payments on a portion of the employees was made after considerable discussion.

Payments
Persons covered by this agreement will begin paying their own Social Security by payroll deduction in July. Until this past year most of the employees were ineligible for inclusion in Social Security.

None of the 40 persons covered by the agreement is eligible for coverage under the teachers' retirement system. This is a pension plan in which teachers and the board cooperate. It is administered by the State.

The annexation under discussion is proposed by Monroe County Land and Building Co. It includes about 25 acres. In opening the discussion, Herbert Crane, board secretary, read a letter from Harold Snyder, Stroudsburg borough secretary.

Snyder's letter merely requested a reply on the board's attitude toward the matter. Board members pointed out that since Stroudsburg, Stroud township and Delaware Water Gap are all part of the same union school district the annexation would not affect tax income for school purposes.

The resignation of William Peck, English teacher and Mrs. Carolyn Wilson, kindergarten, were accepted.

Directors then agreed to hire: Mrs. Rose Morgan, Mrs. Robert Izler and Mrs. Ruth Serfass, all of Stroudsburg and Ralph Harrison, Dallas, Pa. at salaries of $3,600; $3,400; $3,600 and $3,400 respectively.

Also hired were: Lester Rice, $2,800 as custodian at Clearview School and John DeVivo, part-time custodian of athletic grounds during the summer months.

Contracts
Contracts awarded were these: City Coal Co., Stroudsburg, for 100 tons of coal at $9.90 delivered before Sept. 30 and $10.40 between Sept. 30 and March 31. The board specified that bins be filled before Sept. 30.

Hess Inc., Perth Amboy, N. J., for a low bid of 8.81 cents per gallon for number five fuel oil. The Hess bid was based on a 7.55 delivered harbor price in New York.

Social Security May Provoke Lively Debate

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Social Security bill now awaiting Senate floor action may provoke one of the liveliest debates of the 1956 session because of changes made in it by the Senate Finance Committee.

The debate tentatively is scheduled to start tomorrow or Friday, although it already has been postponed several times.

It is one of the major items of legislative business this year, and is considered certain to be passed in some form before final adjournment.

New Benefits
As passed by the House last year, the bill carried two major new benefits. It would lower the retirement age for all women from 65 to 62, and establish a new program of disability benefits for persons totally disabled at age 50 or higher.

In addition, it would raise the tax 1/2 per cent each on the employer and employee to finance the new provisions.

But the Eisenhower administration opposed both benefits, largely because of the cost, and the Senate Finance Committee altered the bill in line with the administration views.

Senate Okays Pennsylvania Flood Control

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Senate today voted approximately 15 1/2 million dollars for Pennsylvania flood control and navigation projects in the year starting July 1.

It voted another 11 1/2 million dollars for two projects in nearby West Virginia and Ohio in which western Pennsylvanians are particularly interested.

The Senate figure is $600,000 more than was voted by the House. This extra money is to start construction of Dyberry Reservoir near Honesdale. President Eisenhower had recommended $600,000 for the work but the House Appropriations Committee voted none. Some House committee members had felt that work on Dyberry might be deferred until after the nearby Prompton Reservoir is built.

Turndown
After the House turndown, Sens. Martin and Duff, Pennsylvania Republicans, and Rep. Carrigan, Susquehanna Republican in whose district the project would be located, urged the Senate appropriations committee to approve $600,000 for Dyberry, and the committee did it.

These are the amounts voted by the Senate for construction in Pennsylvania: Bear Creek Reservoir, Luzerne County, $2,250,000; Bradford, $1,500,000; Presque Isle Peninsula, Erie, $380,000; Prompton Reservoir, $550,000; Reynoldsville, $578,000; Stillwater Reservoir, Forest City, $600,000; Swoyersville-Forty Fort, $625,000; Dyberry Reservoir, $600,000.

These planning funds were voted:

Allegheny River Reservoir near Warren, $384,000; Allentown, $70,000; Bethlehem, $90,000, and Kettle Creek dam on the West Branch of the Susquehanna River, $95,000. Approved also were amounts for two Ohio and West Virginia projects:

New Cumberland Locks and Dams, Ohio River, eight million dollars, and Hildebrand Lock and Dam, Monongahela River, 3 1/2 million dollars. This latter amount is 1 1/2 million dollars more than was voted by the House.

Increase May Be Postponed

HARRISBURG, June 13 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today laid the groundwork for postponing a 4 million dollar a year toll rate increase until Nov. 15.

The action came as a Senate committee completed public hearings on the commission's overall financial picture.

Sen. Fleming (R-Allegheny), committee chairman, said a report would be made in about two weeks.

Revenues
Noting that net revenues of the Delaware River Extension have failed to meet the required minimum Chairman G. Franklin McSorley said consulting engineers would be asked "promptly" to make a new survey and toll recommendations.

On May 23 the commission postponed indefinitely an overall four million dollar a year rate increase.

Signal Depot Plants Honeysuckle

TOBYHANNA — Workmen at the Signal Depot are in the middle of a large-scale project to cut down and soil erosion.

In this case the preventive medicine is honeysuckle. About 110,000 plants covering an estimated 50 acres of land.

The honeysuckle is a spreading vine. Once planted it grows stretching tendrils which run out in seemingly anarchistic abandon from the central shoot.

Each one of these thin, green shoots puts down its own roots. The vine has luxuriant foliage. It inter-locks over ground into a matted, solid mass of green leaves and flowers.

It is this large, leafy mass which aids in prevention of erosion. Honeysuckle leaves catch and hold water from rainfall. The vines also serve to cut the process of wind-dust erosion drastically through provision of an overall protective area of leaves and multiple roots.

At the Signal Depot, a full 1,000 feet by 3,000 feet area is being planted in honeysuckle vines. It lies on the east side of the overall building area. Its shape is roughly that of a rectangle.

The planting process began on June 4. Fred Richter, resident engineer at the depot, explains the process in this way:

Using an "earth auger" holes 12 inches in diameter by 12 inches deep are dug in the soil with a mixture of two parts topsoil to one part peat moss. The whole thing is enriched with fertilizer.

Two-year old honeysuckle stalks, complete with multiple roots and runners are placed in the holes. They start to spread almost immediately after planting.

About 120,000 holes have to be drilled. Using two earth augers working on a double shift, Richter figures it will take about 40 working days to drill the holes.

By the end of next year, the engineer said, the plants should be sufficiently interlocked to provide full protection for the 40-50 acre area.

No earth surface will be visible when the plants are fully-grown Richter said.

Senate Tough For Administration

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) said today the administration has a job cut out for it in convincing the Senate it should vote more foreign aid money than the House did.

Johnson, the Senate majority leader, said: "The administration is going to have to make a case which it hasn't done yet."

"If it makes a case, fortifies the testimony its officials gave the House, the Senate will do what is best for the country."

President Eisenhower asked $4,900,000,000. The House cut its authorization bill to $3,800,000,000 despite pleas from Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and other officials.

Eisenhower, from Walter Reed Hospital, passed along another plea to senators yesterday to raise the amount the House considered enough. Senate leaders who attended a White House conference yesterday said the administration would settle for $4,400,000,000 or 600 million more than the House figure.

Leadership
Sen. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, undertook leadership of a move to restore 500 million of the cut, and this seemed to be the highest possible restoration the administration could hope for.

Ten Republican senators—Case (N.J.), Allott (Colo.), Bender (Ohio), Duff (Pa.), Bush (Conn.), Flanders (Vt.), Ives (N.Y.), Kuchel (Calif.), Payne (Maine) and Purtell (Conn.)—joined today in a statement backing more foreign aid funds than the House approved. They said:

"However heavy the expense may seem, it is nonetheless infinitely cheaper than the cost of waging war."

"A cut in mutual security funds does not mean that the money will be saved."

"Nato—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization—is still our first line of defense against an onslaught across Europe. We will have to spend several times the amount just to keep up the same level of defense. And clearly we date not let down our defenses at this new and critical stage of world affairs."

Trade Increases

PHILADELPHIA, June 13 (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia disclosed today that service trades in the 11-county Greater Philadelphia area increased receipts 72 per cent between 1948 and 1954 reflecting "solid prosperity."

Eisenhower Hasn't Discussed Campaign Plans In Hospital

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S press secretary said Wednesday "there has been no talk at all" with President Eisenhower about the present intentions on running again.

That was the reply James C. Hagerty gave when asked whether anyone had spoken with Eisenhower at Walter Reed Hospital about his second-term plans, in view of his second illness in nine months.

At the Capitol in Washington, four Republican senators said they haven't given a thought to the possibility Eisenhower will withdraw. One of them, Sen. Payne (R-Maine), commented:

"I think those who say he might not be a candidate are just indulging in wishful thinking."

Sens. Mundt (R-SD), Bridges (R-NH) and Jenner (R-Ind.) expressed similar opinions.

Abroad, at Brussels, former President Truman said he hoped Eisenhower's health is such that the chief executive will be able to run for re-election. He wouldn't discuss a reporter's question as to whether Democratic chances would improve if Eisenhower pulled out of the race.

Truman was in Belgium on another leg of his European trip. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a Democratic presidential hopeful, said in Washington he believes the Republicans "will run the President if they can possibly do it." Kefauver also said his defeat by Adlai Stevenson in the California primary had not lessened his determination to seek the Democratic nomination.

In Florida, Gov. Leroy Collins made it clear he's for Stevenson. Collins had been officially silent during his state's primary, in which Stevenson captured 22 of Florida's 28 convention votes.

Pay Boost Seems Assured In Steel Ranks

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—A pay boost appeared assured tonight for the 450,000 workers in the nation's basic steel industry.

A wage increase was included in a counter offer by the "Big Three" steel firms today to a union proposal for a "substantial" increase and other benefits in a new contract.

The low pressure disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico brought the drama of a sea rescue, a tornado and squalls in wide areas of Louisiana and Mississippi.

Negotiations Halted In Ronson Strike

NEGOTIATIONS between the Ronson Corp. and the International Association of Machinists broke off again late yesterday afternoon and no future bargaining sessions have been scheduled.

Meanwhile, some 750 members of Lodge 1724 will continue their strike at the three Ronson plants in East Stroudsburg. The union is also continuing to maintain a seven-day, round-the-clock picket at the Harris, Henry and Spruce Sts. plants.

Charles E. Beyer of New York, grand lodge representative, said that "for the first time, since negotiations started, the company submitted its proposal for a seniority clause in writing."

"The company seeks restrictions and further right to cut rates and transfer employees—and lay off employees—without regard to seniority," Beyer said.

"Previously," he continued, "employees had job protection by way of plant-wide seniority, and, at this point, the company insists on reducing this protection to departments by classifications and by shifts."

"It further proposes that it is necessary for it to have the right to lay off employees without regard to seniority," he said.

Beyer also contended the company "refuses to remove pressures of intimidation, created by production quotas and employee interview forms, which are sponsored by local management personnel supervision and inserted into each employee's work record."

"The record shows that more than 30 per cent of the work force has received a reduction of wages from six to 22 cents hourly while company profits reached new heights—double those of last year at this time," the union spokesman continued.

"The company's failure to meet its responsibility both morally and legally have resulted in the loss of confidence by the employees," he said.

President Takes First Nourishment

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower, after resting and dozing most of the afternoon, drank some broth today—the first food he has taken by mouth since his intestinal operation last Saturday.

He was "very happy" to get the clear beef broth, even though it was less than half a cupful.

Eisenhower also was relieved at the removal all afternoon of the uncomfortable nose-to-stomach decompression tube inserted after the operation for drainage purposes.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said however, the tube may have to be restored if necessary to prevent nausea and drain the stomach and intestinal tract.

Bulletin

A medical bulletin issued from Walter Reed Hospital at 5:05 p.m. pictured the President's spirits as "high throughout the day" and said his condition "continues to be satisfactory."

He had been reported earlier as a bit thinner but "quite chipper" after spending half an hour at work in his hospital bed this morning.

He got out of bed twice for about 30 minutes during the morning and walked about his room. He planned some more walking exercise this evening.

The President had gone more than 80 hours with nothing but intravenous nourishment since the ileitis operation was performed before dawn last Saturday. Hagerty said he was "very happy" to take what the bulletin described as "a small amount of beef broth."

Eisenhower is still being fed intravenously, but the decision to allow him some liquid food by mouth indicated the doctors believe his digestive processes are returning to normal.

The late afternoon bulletin said: "The President's condition continues to be satisfactory."

"His pulse, blood pressure and respiration are stable and essentially normal."

"He rested and slept most of the afternoon."

"Late in the day he had a small amount of beef broth by mouth. The decompression tube has been removed all afternoon."

"The President's spirits remained high throughout the day."

Dutch Government Quiet On Influence Of 'Faith Healer'

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Thursday, June 14 (AP)—The Dutch government shied away yesterday from a dispute over a faith healer's influence on Queen Juliana. But the Dutch press printed the story generally for the first time today.

Dutch editors held off on the story for several days, then huddled privately with government officials yesterday.

The first morning newspapers to tell Hollanders the story about their Queen used parts of articles appearing in foreign publications. They quoted mainly from the German news magazine Der Spiegel, which first broke the story.

Four Public Officials Take Stand

FOUR public officials were among eight witnesses who testified yesterday at a Monroe County Court hearing for a permanent injunction to restrain Stroudsburg's Chief Burgess Hal H. Harris from continuing to divert heavy truck traffic onto Ann St. in the borough.

A local trucking firm owner, William Tarr of 1032 Chipperfield Terrace, filed the complaint in equity against Harris because, he contended, "immediate and irreparable loss and damage" will be suffered by the plaintiff unless the Burgess is enjoined from continuing the practice.

The hearing is scheduled to resume at 10 this morning.

Tarr himself was the first witness to offer testimony before President Judge Fred W. Davis. He testified that his eastbound trucks are diverted off Main St. and onto Ann on an average of six times a day.

During the winter months, he stated, Ann St., between Seventh and Ninth Sts., was in such a deplorable condition that it was almost impossible for trucks to use the street.

Testimony

Similar testimony was then offered by one of Tarr's drivers, Gerald Langan of East Stroudsburg, who was arrested last March for allegedly refusing to obey a policeman's order to drive his truck onto Ann St.

Testimony was then presented by Claude E. Metzgar, assistant highway superintendent for Monroe County. Metzgar said his department has not requested the Burgess to divert commercial traffic off Routes 611 and 209 in the borough.

Moreover, Metzgar testified, the Highway Department had no agreements with the borough, except to remove snow in the Stroudsburg business section at the borough's request.

The next witness was John R. Lesoine, another local trucking firm owner and chairman of the Monroe County Board of Commissioners.

Lesoine maintained that the diversion of heavy truck traffic onto Ann St. added to traffic congestion—rather than lessening it. He explained that even pleasure cars have to come to a stop at Seventh and Ann and Ninth and Ann as the tractor-trailers negotiate the turn onto this street.

Third Firm

A third trucking firm owner, Claude S. Cyphers of 548 Ann St., said that deep holes on Ann St. have added to his maintenance costs. He also contended that it is almost impossible for two large trucks to pass each other on Ann St., and further claimed that one of his trucks was damaged about 18 months ago, when it was struck by another truck turning onto Ann after coming over the Seventh St. bridge.

Stroudsburg Borough Secretary Harold Snyder was then called to the stand and asked to name the present members of the borough's "public committee."

Snyder replied that Councilman Daniel Warner is chairman, and that Councilmen Edward Doran and Sam Lee are the other two members.

SECRETARY MAKES A POINT. During 50th annual convention of Pennsylvania Motor Federation, State Secretary of Highways Joseph J. Lawler points across mountains to brighter horizons of State-Federal cooperative highway building program. With him are Kermit Ryken, Washington, D. C. AAA; Gen. Lacey Murrow, AAA transportation consultant; John Giles, PMF president. All four were members of panel on highways at meeting yesterday at Pocono Manor.

Pennsylvania Motor Federation To Launch 50th Annual Meeting At Pocono Manor Today

POCONO MANOR—Over 450 delegates representing over 500,000 AAA motor club members in Pennsylvania assembled at Pocono Manor last night for the 50th annual meeting of the AAA-Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

At business sessions today and tomorrow, the delegates will give attention to ways in which the current federal highway legislation will affect Pennsylvania and the State's motorists.

John S. Giles, PMF President and chairman of the AAA Highway Committee will serve as moderator of a panel on the Federal-State highway program Thursday afternoon. Panel members are Joseph J. Lawler, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways; General Lacey V. Murrow, of Washington, D. C., transportation consultant for the AAA, and Kermit E. Ryken, also of Washington, Special Assistant to the Executive Vice President, AAA.

All of the panelists have been closely identified with the development of the highway legislation, and Giles, Murrow and Ryken have made numerous appearances before the House and Senate committees during hearings on the proposed legislation.

Insurance

The pros and cons of compulsory insurance will be discussed this morning by a panel of experts headed by Harold R. Prosser, of Harrisburg, PMF Counsel and chairman of the AAA Legal Committee. Panel members are J. Warren Brock, Automobile Club of Philadelphia; Capt. Thomas Cahalan, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania State Police; Charles C. Collins, of Washington, D. C., General Counsel, AAA, and Charles C. Powers, of New York City, Counsel for the Automobile Club of New York.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at a business session tomorrow morning, and at that time also, the delegates will vote on policy resolutions which will help to guide the big motorizing organization on major issues during the coming year. The delegates will also hear an address by David R. Perry, of Harrisburg, on "A Charge and A Challenge."

A reception was held for the delegates last night, and their Golden Jubilee banquet will be held Thursday evening. A special program of entertainment has been arranged for the ladies.

Scouts Launch Financial Drive With Dinner

KICK-OFF dinner of a campaign to raise $200,000 for the expansion of Camp Weygadt was held last night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

William S. Wyckoff, general chairman for Monroe County, emphasized the need to enlarge the facilities to meet the increased number of Boy Scouts in the area. Already overcrowded, the present facilities are meant to take care of 150 boys each week Wyckoff said. However, there are as many as 250 scouts at the camp during some weeks each season.

Facilities

In addition, there are insufficient facilities for winter camping programs, he said.

Wyckoff said further that at least $200,000 must be raised to meet the needs of the increasing number of scouts.

Carl Miller, president of the Delaware Valley Area Council, pointed out that the campaign activities committee, of the Council which is responsible for Camp Weygadt, has been studying the needs of the camp for many years. He said the committee has had the advice of national scouting leaders relative to the enlargement of facilities there.

Volunteers

Volunteer workers are hoping to complete their solicitations by June 27. The drive has been divided into five divisions:

Division chairmen are Clifford Gilliam, special gifts; Clifford Cramer, East Stroudsburg-Delaware-River area; Detlef A. Hansen, Monroe County; Chester Miller and Nelson Westbrook, Stroudsburg and Stroud Township, and William Schiebel, Scouting Division.

Schiebel requested that all scouting unit committees organize teams of workers to present the Camp Weygadt story to the parents of all BSA members, so that they will have an opportunity to contribute to this campaign.

Stroudsburg Boy Places

STEPHEN DRAKE, of Stroudsburg High School, placed 10th in the public speaking contest held yesterday at Penn State University in one of the highlights of Pennsylvania Future Farmers of America Week.

More than 1,670 farm boys attended yesterday's series of contests held in conjunction with the three-day convention. Twenty boys and six instructors represented the Monroe-Northampton district.

Similar Group

A similar group of girls participated in sessions of the Future Homemakers of America.

The FFA meeting will end today with election and installation of officers.

TRADE WINDS — New officers were installed last night for Portland Board of Trade in meeting at Tuscarora Inn. Seated, left to right, are Frank Fitzgerald, and Fred Heinsohn, old and new presidents. Standing: John T. Lewis, treasurer; Lillian MacManse, secretary; Virgin Vannatta, vice president; Joseph Varrin, assistant secretary.

Board Of Trade To Issue Formal Protest

PORTLAND—Portland Board of Trade voiced strong opposition last night to a new Delaware Joint Toll Bridge Commission policy which cuts down on the life of commutation books.

According to Board of Trade officers the commission has revised length of time the books of tickets good for trips across the Portland bridge may be used from six months down to only 30 days.

Fewer Purchases

This means, the board said at its annual meeting last night in Tuscarora Inn, that fewer people are buying the books. The outflow on purchases of the cheaper tickets has resulted in a sharp decrease in business in the Portland area, Frank Fitzgerald, outgoing president said.

A committee was formed to make a formal protest to the commission against the new policy. The Board also discussed cooperation with the Bangor trade board on methods to bring new industry into the area.

Ann Street Traffic Problem Aired In Injunction Hearing

Atty. J. Joseph McCluskey, counsel for Taff, maintained in the complaint itself that a borough ordinance provides that the burgess and "police committee" are to decide together when a street is to be closed "for the public safety or convenience."

The complaint contends that Harris diverted traffic onto Ann St. "without consulting the police committee and without obtaining the assent of the said committee."

Question

However, at yesterday's hearing, the mayor's counsel, Atty. Harold C. Edwards, asked the borough secretary under cross-examination when the "police committee" was appointed.

Snyder replied that because of an "oversight" no record of the committee's appointment appeared on the borough council's minutes until June 6.

"Nothing appeared on the minutes until June 6—only after this case started?" Edwards pressed.

"Yes," Snyder replied.

Edwards then directed the borough secretary to appear in court today with the borough council's minutes from 1950 to the present.

Service

Next on the stand was Councilman Warner, who stated he has served since 1951 as chairman of the "Fire, Law and Ordinance Committee," which the plaintiff contends serves in the same capacity as a "police committee" in other municipalities.

Harris' counsel, however, indicated that he would not accept this conclusion and would argue that a "police committee" does not exist in the borough.

Final witness for the day was Nathan Smith, a long-time resident at 824 Ann St., and owner of a Main St. businessplace.

Smith stated that the condition of Ann St. has been "almost unbearable" for the last year. He said there were many holes in it during the winter months and cinders were thrown onto the sidewalks because of the heavy commercial traffic.

The heavy traffic has also made the sidewalks uneven and has caused other damage to property on the street, Smith insisted. He added that Ann St. homes "tremble" when passing trucks hit holes in the road.

Construction Of Shortway Would Bring New Prosperity To Poconos

Gov. George M. Leader was saying the other day that "air, water, rail and highway systems of this Commonwealth determine the course of Pennsylvania's industry and commerce and our very standard of living."

Pennsylvania's future shines brightest, he said, in the field of highway transportation. "With the Federal highways program a near reality," we can look forward to the greatest highway transportation system in the world."

The Governor added: "Our transportation system is our future. Pennsylvania's future is assured; its prosperity is certain if we continue to build bridges, deepen channels and cut ribbons of roadway through our mountains. When Pennsylvania takes its goods to the world, its people prosper."

Mr. Leader didn't say so in as many words, but we have a feeling he was thinking, at least in part, of the proposal to build a cross-state superhighway between Stroudsburg and Sharon. This so-called Keystone Shortway Turnpike has been approved by the Legislature and Gov. Leader, and is now in the hands of the State Highways Department awaiting action by Secretary Joseph J. Lawler and his aides.

We might paraphrase Mr. Leader's statement and point out that when new highways are built to bring more people into the Poconos resort region, its people prosper.

In other words, construction of the Keystone Shortway would open up a whole new territory — from Western Pennsylvania through Ohio to Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis — to resorts in the Poconos.

Past experience has already taught us that tourists from points west of here want to come to the Poconos, but often are discouraged from doing so because there are not now any direct highways linking the two regions.

Since the Shortway would provide the shortest route between Chicago and New York, the Poconos are situated in a peculiarly strategic position for vacationists headed for New York and other Eastern points. This would be their last stopping-off place before reaching their destination.

The added business they would bring would amount to millions of dollars to the economy of the entire area. While the resorts would be the chief beneficiaries, every other local business would feel the effects of the boom.

Industries all along the Shortway would feel a tremendous lift by being brought closer to their markets and sources of supply. New markets would be developed. Furthermore, a Shortway would open up highly desirable sites where industries seeking new locations could build.

Other advantages would result from the Shortway. Besides contributing to development of the northern half of Pennsylvania, the superhighway would play an important role in the defense of this Nation. In fact, the Shortway's potential as a vital military highway is being emphasized as a means of obtaining Federal funds to help finance its cost.

As of now, the Shortway is little more than a dream. Every organization interested in the economic welfare of the Poconos should put its full weight behind the proposal and make that dream come true.

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Nautical Terminology Made Easy For Ladies

In the rush to be photographed golfing, pitching baseballs, fishing, and wearing Indian bonnets, candidates for a conspicuous political office may have overlooked the most conspicuously popular sport—boating. Offhand, I would have guessed golfing as the work most pursued by Saturday's children—but data straight from the heart of an outboard motor manufacturer holds otherwise.

Boating, as a sport, uses up more people than the combined numbers of golf, tennis and bowling enthusiasts. Counting all hands on dock, there are 30 million people of nautical natures in the country. Of which, 3 million are ladies. And a large percentage of them (you can see that outboard outfit smile) are collegebored.

Apparently some of the girls don't know the "bow" from the "stern" of their conveyance. The boating booklet hopefully prepared by the outboard fellows tells of lingo no mere woman could be expected to know. Lest a lady be embarrassed by referring to her ship's "kitchen," they have ever so kindly explained that aboard ship, a kitchen is called "galley."

The bow, ladies, is pronounced "like either syllable in the sound your pet dog makes, not like the trimming on a dress!" This, we assume, is "Arf"—depending on the vocal disposition of your canine friend. (No dog at all? You'll have to write the company for further information.)

The transom, fellow boaters, is a "crosswise structure on which the motor is mounted. Before you became a boatwoman, a transom was that little window over a door, remember?" Actually, I remember no such thing. You see, our house is New England in design and vindictive in intent. Far from providing transoms, it has low doorways which reach down and scalp tall citizens.

Starboard, they claim, is the right side of the boat when you're looking forward. (Well, don't look backward, silly girl. It doesn't say what starboard would be, in such event.)

Port, obviously is the left of the boat, still with that forward look. Says the handbook, "Incidentally, never say you are going up front, or you are going to the back . . . Say, 'I'm going forward' and 'I'm going aft.' (Mister, I'm going daft.)"

The head, ladies, is what is usually called the powder room. And this must be some boat they are selling us, if it has same.

Let's be the side opposite that from which the breeze is blowing. "This is good to know," it says here, "because if you're going to throw anything overboard, it's smart to throw it to LEEWARD—pronounced LOO-ard—because if you don't, whatever tossed will come right back at you." Ugh . . . but I see what they mean.

"This is YOUR new language, and it's fun to be initiated. Knowing these terms, you'll make your skipper proud of you." (Oh, no, you don't! I'll pronounce "bow" any old way I choose—right on terra firma. Hey, Lee—I mean LOO—how's about a fast round of checkers?)

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A consignment of new drapes (not necessarily Marines) was taken for a grueling 10-mile hike with full equipment strapped to their backs. Then the grizzled sergeant (a Phil Silvers type) announced, "Now we've got to march right back without stopping for food or rest. Any man not fit for that, take three paces forward!"

The whole outfit promptly took three paces forward—all that is, but one poor boob who stood rooted in his place. "So you're killin'," boomed the sergeant. "I admire your guts!" "Guts, my eye!" groaned the rookie. "I'm so pooped I can't even walk the three paces forward!"

Stephen Longstreet, is still reeling from what a Hollywood producer's wife observed "That Bill Holden is an actor after my own heart," she sighed. "A recognized star of the first rank, he still lives as simply as if he were a $2,000-a-week writer!"

Russia Seeks Mutual Aid Pacts With Egypt, Syria

Washington, June 14—"Mutual Security" agreements with Egypt and Syria are the real reason for that sudden appearance of Arab neutrality, but actually they would constitute military alliances with the Soviet

As lure to Premier Nasser and the Syrians the new Kremlin czar, who put over last year's war-breeding arms deals with them, is offering more weapons, including submarines, and large loans and trade credits at exceptionally low terms.

Information on this secret purpose of Shepilov's trip has reached the State Department and Pentagon from authoritative Arab and Iron Curtain sources.

These well-informed authorities have reported that Shepilov's sortie is a direct outgrowth of Marshal Tito's visit to Russia. The Yugoslav ruler was appraised of the plan, and approved it.

According to these sources, Tito is aware that Shepilov's mission fits in with Nasser's impending visit to Yugoslavia.

It is claimed that Tito will advise the Egyptian leader to expand his ties and dealings with the Soviet bloc as an effective means of maintaining a balance between the East and West. Tito will cite himself as a highly successful example of such a policy.

Note: On April 18 this column reported that U. S. and British Intelligence authorities had definitely ascertained that Premier Nasser and King Saud had reached a secret agreement regarding Saudi Arabia's strategically crucial oil. Following are highlights of this sensational disclosure, which has never been denied:

"Highly authoritative Intelligence sources have reported the details of an agreement between Premier Nasser and King Saud under which, in the event of full-scale war with Israel, all the Arab allies will have 'complete and unrestricted access to Saudi Arabian oil.' This secret pact was reached at the recent Cairo 'summit' conference."

"Nasser is credited with giving the other Arab rulers unequivocal assurance that Russia will back this oil plan to the hilt, 'both diplomatically and militarily.' This is interpreted as meaning that Egypt, by far the largest and most powerful of the Arab states, would quickly gain control of this supremely important oil—with the covert connivance and aid of Russia."

"And once the Soviet establish a foothold in Saudi Arabia, the Reds will leave nothing undone to make themselves master of both the oil and this far-flung crossroads of the world between exploding Africa and seething Southeast Asia."

How it's worked—The U. S. has given both Yugoslavia and Egypt large amounts of military and economic aid. More such funds are earmarked for them in President Eisenhower's embattled multi-billion dollar foreign aid budget.

This came to light during the House Foreign Affairs Committee's closed-door hearings on this measure.

On March 29 this column reported the Committee had uncovered that $98,000,000 was allocated for economic and technical (Point Four) aid for Egypt, Syria and the other Arab countries. The Committee was told:

"It is impossible to predict the course of developments between the Arab States and Israel in the next 12 to 18 months. If the U. S. acts quickly, provides help in an impartial manner, and exercises patience in dealing with new crises as they occur, the present unfavorable climate may be improved."

On April 3 this column further reported the Committee had learned at another private session, that Yugoslavia was to get $230,000,000 under the new foreign aid budget.

Committeemen sharply challenged this unannounced plan. Stuart Van Dyke, State Department official, defended it on the ground relations between the U. S. and Yugoslavia are better than ever before. But Representatives Edna Kelly (D. N. Y.) and Thurmond Chatham (D. N. C.) pointed out Tito's increasingly close relations with the Kremlin.

"Yugoslavia is a Communist country," replied E. Perkins McGuire, Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary, who was also present, "but in a determined manner has asserted and maintained its independence from Soviet domination. The U. S. deems it sound policy to support Yugoslavia in that independence."

As an example of the cordial relations between the U. S. and Yugoslavia, Van Dyke cited two developments.

"Tito has agreed to a more extensive and closer inspection of the military equipment he is getting from us," said Van Dyke, "and we are now getting more and better information from Yugoslavia. Our military assistance is designed strictly to enable Yugoslavia to maintain its independence. That's as far as it goes. And by developing Yugoslav economy, we make it possible for her to resist Soviet economic penetration and thus further safeguard her hard-won independence."

The U. S. has a mutual security pact with Yugoslavia. But Egypt has persistently balked at such an alliance, Premier Nasser flatly refused to make any concessions on this even during the negotiations for a $90,000,000 loan to begin construction of the giant Aswan Irrigation and power dam on the Nile.

William Howard Taft was the first President of the 48 states of the Union. The last two states, New Mexico and Arizona, joined the Union in 1912 while he was in office.

Doe Chases Dog In Script Switch

By Jim Riley

Did you ever see a mouse chase a cat? Well, an incident quite similar occurred in Wooddale on Tuesday of this week.

The story involves a little dog of questionable ancestry named "Penny" and a doe deer who's name wasn't signed on the dock-et.

Here's the way the story was passed on to me:

It seems that "Penny," owned by The Daily Record's Rodrick MacLeod, went for an early morning stroll and happened upon a doe and her fawn.

Penny, being of a very brave nature, especially during the morning hours, apparently issued a series of brave barks, with all the authority in her possession.

Now, according to custom, dogs are supposed to set sail in chase of deer at this point.

But, as happens in human life, somehow the script became loused-up. Instead of the dog chasing the deer, the deer turned on our up-to-now heroine, and Penny set sail for home.

Penny, sporting two main mixtures of police and daschund, raced over the woods and fields at top speed, but the doe was gaining by leaps and bounds.

But, our Penny was still the master of the situation, or at least she thought quickly enough to save her hide near the finish line.

Instead of heading directly for the MacLeod residence, Penny turned toward the back yard of Danny Eppley, who lives next door.

The front running dog ducked under a wooden fence, raced across the yard and under another portion of the same fence, before reaching home in a state of exhaustion.

According to reports reaching this column, the angered doe was forced to pull up short of the fence. Apparently still in a high degree of rage, the doe is said to have issued two loud snorts before racing back to her nest in the woods.

Penny's early morning meeting with a most embarrassing fate was witnessed by Paul Metzgar, Ross, John, and Clarence Lesoine and Jake Weidman, all residents of Wooddale.

Dogs of good standing will undoubtedly want a report from their canine friend, while the deer herds are probably even now buzzing with excitement over the manner in which one of their number chased a dog from the woods.

Could be an entirely new trend—one that certainly would make all game wardens happy.

An inch of rain, spread over an acre of ground amounts to the equivalent of 27,143 gallons of water.

Three Girls Ready For Pageant

THREE ENTRIES to be considered in the Miss Pocono Mountains Pageant to be staged at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on Saturday are Katherine Mertz, Joan Mudry and Joan Fischl.

Miss Mertz graduated from Nazareth High School and has been attending ESSTC where she has taken active part in all college activities. Kathy, as she is known to her school mates, is a blue-eyed blonde with fair complexion. She weighs 130 pounds, is five feet, seven inches tall and is 21 years of age. Her hobbies are dramatics and singing.

Miss Mudry, student at ESSTC, who lives at 2200 2nd St., Easton, when she is not attending college in the Poconos, will give a dramatic reading in the talent routine in the Miss Pocono Mountains Pageant. Miss Mudry graduated from Easton Catholic High School and after her graduation from ESSTC she plans to enter Cornell University. Her hobbies include art, modeling, dramatics, and reading. She took part in high school plays, and has been active in college activities, having modeled in the recent Fashion Show at the school. Joan is 20 years of age, five feet, three inches tall, weighs 103, has light brown hair, brown eyes, and medium complexion.

Among the talents in this pageant, will be a dance number by Joan Fischl of Moscow. Miss Fischl is a student at ESSTC and a graduate of Scranton Central High School. She plans to continue her education at Iowa State after graduation to further her career. As a member of her high school band, Joan was a majorette, at which time she was taking special training at Civic Dance Center in Scranton under the direction of Constance Reynolds. Miss Fischl is 20 years of age, has dark brown hair and eyes, weighs 120 pounds and is five feet, three inches tall. Most of her time is taken up with studies and dancing lessons, but she is fond of children and plans to teach.

Former Stroudsburg Man Hurt

SCRANTON — Edgar Long, 52, former manager of the Woolworth Store in Stroudsburg, was one of three persons seriously injured in a head-on collision outside this city Monday morning.

Long, now a resident of West Pittston, was admitted to Scranton State Hospital, with a possible skull fracture and brain injury. The other motorist, Louis C. Lucio, 27, of Scranton, and a passenger in his car, Elaine Meyers, 27, also of Scranton, were also admitted to the hospital with serious injuries.

Blind Curve

Police said Lucio passed a tractor-trailer on a blind curve on Route 307 while going up a hill and crashed into Long's car coming from the opposite direction. Long reportedly was returning home from Stroudsburg at the time.

Police said Lucio's will be charged with reckless driving and assault and battery with a motor vehicle upon his release from the hospital.

Two Youths Held On $500 Bail

TWO MIDDLE Smithfield youths yesterday were held in $500 bail each for their court appearance on charges stemming from the theft of 500 pounds of copper cable.

Paul K. Smith, 19, and Charles Griffin, 20, were ordered held for further action following a hearing before Justice of the Peace Marshall Neyhart of East Stroudsburg.

Story

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It is seldom that the notion strikes me to pity men. Oh, maybe on hot days when they have to walk around the hot streets in long trousers, but between air conditioned offices, frequent coffee breaks and dawdling along the way to bank or postoffice they seem to make out all right, even then.

The one big exception is this time of year when the stores are featuring Father's Day gifts. There is the whole wide store spread with the riches of the world, gay, bright and giddy articles in profusion — and all for women.

Tucked in a little corner is the pitiable array of all they have to offer men: a new razor with a recording of big moments in sports, bottles of after-shave lotion, some fanciful tie-racks, an ash-tray or so, some handsome wallets (without any money in them naturally), and the inevitable socks, shirts, ties, or handkerchiefs.

This year to add excitement there are also featured some of those multi-purpose tools — hammer handles that unscrew to reveal screwdrivers, knives with not only knife, fork and spoon, but scissors and miniature saws that fold up inside.

All very nice gifts, I'm sure but sort of somber. The great splash of color, of ribbons and flowers and jewels and glamour, the variety and gaiety of non-utilitarian gifts, given just for fun and for adornment, is totally lacking.

The men, bless them, aren't complaining and will probably greet with delight the gift of a new garden hose or that push button shaving cream they've always wanted — but I feel sorry for them, anyway.

Pocono Pines Scouts Visit State Capital

Pocono Pines—The Girl Scouts of Troop 15, Pocono Pines had a gala trip on July 9, beginning at 7:45 a. m. from Tobyhanna Township High School, under cloudy skies which in no way reflected the spirits of the girls.

Their first stop was at Miniature America between Allentown and Harrisburg. Their next stop was the state capital at Harrisburg where they toured the buildings and learned facts concerning the Commonwealth. To the disappointment of some of the girls they also learned that David Crockett had never been there. They visited the museum before leaving Harrisburg.

On their return trip, they stopped at Hershey Park where tired feet were forgotten in the excitement of the rides and amusements. After losing and finding several of their number, they started home and were met at the school by their parents.

The trip was made possible through the courtesy of Ernest Wyckoff who furnished the bus and the driver, Mr. Price.

Girls who made the trip included Harriet Keiper, Mary Keiper, Patty Keiper, Susan Person, Mary Ann Manley, Susan Starnes, Margaret Altomose, Judith Ann Bonser, Ellen Chock, Elaine Lukoski, Mary Ann Hughes, Mary Jean Ratliff, Brenda Frank, Patricia Ann Rhoads, Shirley Ann Hawk, Marsha Miller, Helene Parker, Mary Harold and their leader, Mrs. Orval Parker, with her volunteer helpers, Miss Mary E. During the past few weeks, this column has tried to give its readers a preview of Fall fashions as they are being shown buyers from all over our nation who have converged upon New York City for their seasonal purchasing. We've covered the dress, suit, and coat shows... the fabrics clinic... and now I'll give you, if you like, a rundown on the Accessories Show held Tuesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Accessories, as always, will—in this Fall of 1956—be the spice of the wardrobe. What's more, they'll be concentrated more intensely than ever upon making of every woman some gentleman's version of his "Fair Lady". Never before has a Broadway hit had more free publicity than "My Fair Lady" is getting. During the season ahead every man will be looking for his lady fair and every woman will be striving desperately to fill the bill.

Let's begin with color. Black is the BIG news. Not only will every woman have "a little black dress" requiring bright accessories, but somewhere in almost all of her accessories there will be a touch of black. If, for instance, her jewelry are topaz mounted in gold, the probability is that somewhere there will be a few black beads in her necklace, or a bit of black enamel. If she is wearing a red stripe on gray, chances are a delicate pinstripe of black will accentuate the red and give it a third dimension. She may choose shiny black or dull black... or she may combine them. One of the smartest handbags shown combined a layer of black faille, and a layer of black velvet, giving a dull-shiny contrast that was most striking. Taupe is another major color in accessories, as are Loden Green and Red Maple.

Chiffon is the neckwear story summed up in one impressive word. There will be tiny squares of it... long narrow lengths of it... and triangles of it. The 24 in. square will prove more adaptable than larger, bulkier sizes. Some will be jewel trimmed, some will be plain... and women will do intriguing things with them. They will tie them around their heads, tuck them into the neckline of that "little black dress," fasten them diagonally from shoulder to waistline, or drape them stole-fashion. Velvet is another important choice for the stole, some of the most striking being in paisley print.

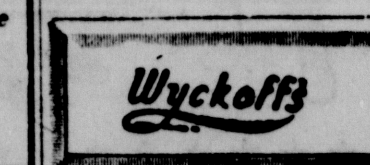

Tiny jackets no bigger than a minute will be popular with the Empire line of dresses, and these will be of velvet, of fur, or lame, or—if one is very young—of material that has been worked to resemble mink. Satin theatre coats are the impressive news for evening. Evening bags will be finer than previously, with the pouch, dangling from a gold chain, replacing the clutch as Number One Favorite. Many bags will be beaded... all will be elegant. Fur collars will soar to the head of the popularity parade, and other collars—be they lace, organza, or beading—will be more feminine than ever before.

The glove story is also a honey. The longer glove will have it over the shorty for smartness, with 8 and 12 button-lengths fighting it out, and the 8-button having a slight edge. There will be new fabrics, with stretchies still very much on view, and leather growing in importance, thanks to its invasion of the entire fashion picture from top to toe. Velvet gloves will be worn from July through October for truly smart accessorizing, other fabrics being of greater importance after that time. The glove picture is brilliant with Fieldstone, rust, copper, beige, cherry red, electric blue, gold and Loden Green tones.

Umbrellas will be tall and slim once again... but there will also be a short and slim cocktail style for elegant accessorizing, and, in less ornate designs, for the use of the tiny woman who cannot carry the longer type. Handles, particularly in imports, will be increasingly original.

Blouses will be bulky with knit trim... or sleekly tailored. The Little Boy shirt will have a less-tailored counterpart in the Sissy shirt, lavishly with embroidery, ruffles, and feminine touches. Nylon Georgette will step down from its place on the more expensive racks to budget brackets, without losing a bit of its beauty and elegance. Cupionic cloth (a mixture of combed cotton and bemberg) will be seen everywhere. Nubby in appearance, it is easily laundered and cared for. The youthful "Ivy League" look in blouses will also win friends and influence customers.

But we've run out of space and out of breath. So all about handbags, belts and hosiery tomorrow!

YOKOHAMA, Japan, June 13 (P)—American Southerners don't like Japan's textiles but they cotton to Masaru Yamamura's goods. He makes flags. Yamamura happened to turn out some Confederate flags. Bingo, U.S. sales skyrocketed. Yamamura now makes 140,000 Confederate flags monthly.

ALL THE WAY FROM MARYLAND came some of the pints of blood which went into the Monroe county Bloodmobile collection yesterday at Tobyhanna Depot. It was given by members of the 579th Signal Company. They're in Summer training at Tobyhanna. Company is from Fort Meade, Md. Three officers, 34 enlisted men donated.

Depot Gives 391 Pints Of Blood

TOBYHANNA—Red Cross Bloodmobile collected another 162 pints of blood yesterday here at the Signal Depot.

This brought the total amount donated during the two-day June Depot stop up to 391 pints.

Red Cross spokesmen Mrs. Walter Dreher said the results were "marvelous and we wouldn't know what to do without the Depot."

Success

Mrs. Dreher also pointed out that during the past year Depot employees have been largely responsible for Monroe county's success in the blood donor program.

During a one-day visit in late 1955 to the Depot the mobile unit collected more than 500 pints of blood among Depot employees. This was an all-time record in the local donor program, local officials said.

On the first day of the June visit, the unit collected 229 pints. Yesterday's total brought the June grand total up to 391.

Reese Hurls No-Hitter As Worthington Blanks IBW

Only 23 Batters Show At Plate

EVAN REESE, the kid that has written a courageous chapter in athletics, completed another page last night as he thrilled the entire area with a no-hit, no-run pitching performance as Worthington Mower clapped an 18-0 lacing on International Boiler Works at Gordon Giffels Field.

Reese, forced to wear a brace on his left leg as the result of a football injury last November, was the master of the situation from start to finish in the Stroudsburgs.

Barrett Babe Ruth League tussle. Told that he would probably lose his leg, advised that he might never walk again, the plucky East Stroudsburg High athlete refused to believe any of the reports and last night appeared like the healthiest kid on the field.

Fans 13 He retired 13 batters on strikes, including the last two men, walked only two batters and the opposition lofted only one ball to the outfield.

Reese ended the game by forcing hard hitting Dale Metzger to fan on a three-and-two pitch.

In addition to pitching the first no-hitter, Reese batted out a double in five trips to the plate. The hard working right hander faced only 23 batters in the entire game.

Worthington Mower displayed a solid attack by scoring in bursts of four in the first, third and seventh frames, five times in the fifth and one marker in the second.

IBW helped to contribute to its own downfall with seven errors.

Fire, Storm Injure Horses

STOCKHOLM, June 13 (AP) — A flash stable fire, a rain storm and severe injuries to horses and riders brought high drama and a threat of disaster today to the Equestrian Olympic Games.

The fire, born in a pile of hay, spread throughout a big red brick training building in the stable area where more than 200 Olympic horses worth a million dollars were quartered.

Dozens of horses were evacuated to safety and none was reported injured although many had narrow escapes.

The blaze came a few hours after completion of the second day of the three-day trial, during which the American team was disqualified and three darened Englishmen, and a tough Swede took the leads in the competition for the first gold medal.

In addition to the United States, teams from 10 other countries were disqualified when at least one of their riders did not complete the 2 1/2-mile course made muddy and treacherous by overnight rain.

Maj. Jonathan R. Burton, 36, Berwyn, Ill., was thrown at the finish and was taken to the hospital for head X-rays. Early reports said he suffered a concussion.

Frank Duffy of Birmingham, Mich., a University of Michigan student, fell at the third barrier and withdrew, although he wasn't hurt.

Although the U. S. team was disqualified, Walter G. Staley of Mexico, Mo., had one of the best

HLH Gains Favorable Decision Over Cramer In One Frame

HELLER-LLOYD-HOWELL exploded for five runs in the second inning last night and coasted to a 5-3 verdict over Cramer Lumber in an East Stroudsburg Little League baseball game.

Doug Metzger laced the Lumbermen on three hits, but was hard pressed as Cramer's crew picked up two counters in the third and one in the fourth frame.

The winning contingent came up with only four safeties off the slants of Henry Townsend and Norman Fish, but they were bunched in such fashion as to make victory possible.

Today's schedule calls for East Stroudsburg National Bank and East Stroudsburg Methodist Church to collide at 6:15 p.m.

Peoples Coal Wins Over Security Trust

PEOPLES Coal used a strong showing in the second and third innings last night to grab a close 6-4 decision from Security Trust in the Stroudsburg Little League.

Security Trust battled in the late frames, but couldn't quite turn the tide of battle.

Both teams were limited to eight hits. Nevil led the losing attack with a perfect three-forthree showing, while Ace was the big gun in a winning career with two safeties.

Security Trust's big inning was the third when it scored two times.

No game will be played today because of Commencement exercises at Stroudsburg High School.

Instead, a business meeting of the circuit will be held at the Monroe County YMCA at 7:30 p.m.

Strong Rally From Friday's Break Increases Market Tempo

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—The strong rally from Friday's break continued today for the third session, but the tempo of recovery slowed. News of the President's illness Friday brought on the sharpest decline in eight months, but the market now has recovered all of the lost ground and 50 per cent more.

Red Cross Class Ends Training

Seek Marriage License

DAVID Gardiner Banks, Middletown, Conn., and Jane Carol Price, Buck Hill Falls, Tuesday, applied for a marriage license in the office of Brotherton N. Henry Fenner.

The rise today produced gains of 1 to 2 points generally, but the list was well flecked with minor minus signs in key areas.

Oils and aircrafts produced buying that bolstered the market early in the session, and then the steels came through with late strength to help matters at a time when the list was backing down from its best.

Right now the market stands at the highest point in the recovery drive that nipped off a three-week reaction starting from near the April highs.

As measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, here is what happened in the past four days. On Friday the average was off $3.00, Monday up $2.20, Tuesday up $1.80, and today up 60 cents at $181.60.

The industrial component of the average was up 90 cents today, rails up 60 cents, and utilities up 10 cents.

There were 1,143 individual issues traded of which 584 were higher and 292 lower with 14 new highs and 22 new lows for the year touched.

'Three Men On Horse' Worth Attention, Time During Opening Week At Bushkill Theater

By Leonard Randolph

BUSHKILL.—It has become increasingly obvious during the past decade that "Three Men On A Horse," like "Bridget Murphy," has more than one life.

In its latest incarnation the durable John Cecil Holm-George Abbott comedy served as the opening attraction Tuesday night at the Summer theater here. It is a funny—and sometimes hilarious—play which needs good, trained actors who are skilled in timing for its comic lines.

In its present production at the Bushkill theater it is well worth your time and attention. Opening night was filled with more than its share of pedestrian moments, blown lines and the frequently eerie clatter of set changes between scenes.

But most of these hitches should be overcome during the week's run of the play, I should think.

As nearly everyone knows by now, "Three Men On A Horse" has to do with a verily "worm who turns," named Erwin Troubridge. Erwin's hobby is doping out the horses in races. He is a man of great talent in the field since he consistently picks the winners and quite frequently has the top horse in a four-horse parley. All of his "betting" is done on paper.

All that is, until he runs into a trio of race aficionados in a hotel bar. From then on out, Erwin builds the three men—Charlie, Frankie and Patsy—into racing magnates. Erwin's troubles with Mother's Day greeting card verse (his profession) and his wife and brother-in-law provide most of the play's plot.

Considering the caliber of John Cecil Holm's work since this play, it seems obvious that much of its comedy and gag-style humor come from the creative brain of Mr. Abbott. Certainly, in its staging, it needs a faster-than-thunder-and-ear director such as the latter.

At Bushkill Tuesday night, the pace was often too slow. This may be remedied, however, when the cast gets the sense of group playing which comes unfortunately only with repeated performance.

The "new look" at Bushkill was evident this year, even given the small imperfections of the first performance. Nearly all the members of the cast are professionals. And the "star-director" is Art Smith, one of the best character performers in the U. S. Smith is seen as "Erwin" and his performance was very good, especially in his "drunk scenes" which have about them the rolling, lurching quality of a comic fantasy.

Irv West is brilliant in the pivotal role of "Harry," the unwilling barkeep. Ted Schwartz, Dan Leone and Richard Leone falter now and then as the betting trio, but their overall performances are also fine. Oliver Berg does a beautiful job with "Mr. Carver," turning in a subtle, constantly humorous portrayal of one of the play's better parts.

The two women—who have little to do much of the time—are Gloria Michaels Baron and Ann Blum. Neither Miss Baron or Miss Blum does very much with her part, but they're both nice to have around.

I wish I could say the same for Clay Franklin, who is cast in the role of the brother-in-law, by all odds the least likeable and most playable part in the script. Franklin's performance was thoroughly second-rate on opening night. It consisted in large part of mannered posturing, mumbled speech which was mostly inaudible in the sixth row and facial grimaces familiar to audiences who remember the early days of "Fu Manchu."

Bushkill staging and production values are not of a quality local theatergoers may have come to expect. As it now stands—Mr. Franklin's performance aside—it is enjoyable Summer theater worthy of larger audiences than the 40 persons who attended the opening.

There's Good News From Iceland

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Good international news today from Iceland, and it can be summed up simply:

The pink-footed goose, thought of as a two-egg mother, actually lays four eggs. Sometimes more. Maybe even as many as seven. Behind this good news is a story of international cooperation, including the military, in the often vigorous art of bird watching.

It begins with Lorimer Moe of the U. S. Information Agency, and his tour of duty in Reykjavik, Iceland.

Likes Birds

Moe likes to look at birds. So he was delighted to learn that many an Icelander—and especially Dr. Finnur Gudmundsson of Natural Museum—likes bird watching, too.

"What a giant!" Moe said. "Finnur is 6 feet 7 and weighs 285 pounds. Not a fat man either. Just enormous."

"You know, I've gotten resigned to the fact that in this country everybody looks on bird watching as something silly. Yet all the men I have known who had a real interest in birds are 6-footers."

To keep the record complete, Moe is a 6-footer, too.

Well, Gudmundsson long had fretted about the pink-footed goose. This international traveler uses Iceland as one of his main nesting grounds, and then migrates to the British Isles and down the European coast; to the great delight of hunters there.

Mama pink-foot, it was believed, laid only two eggs. Was she in danger of becoming extinct?

Rugged Spot

Unfortunately, the wily creature nested in one of the most rugged spots in Iceland. Why, you'd have to have a helicopter to get in there during nesting season.

Helicopter? Ah! A good bird watcher, you see, thinks of everything.

So even though Moe was transferred to Finland, and then back here, he and Gudmundsson kept reminding the military of this excellent opportunity to get useful experiences under tough conditions.

The bird watchers, naturally, prevailed. Word of the mission has just reached Moe, and it's good.

True, the weather was so horrible the copters had a terrible time landing Dr. G. and party. And later they ran into such winds they couldn't bring in supplies for four days.

But what did it matter? Gudmundsson found 3,000 pairs, far more than he had expected, happily housekeeping under conditions fit only for a pink-footed goose. And that prolific pair with seven eggs—what a windfall!

Lehigh Valley Ministerium Elects Officers

The Ministerium is composed of the Methodist pastors in the area from Easton, Allentown and Bethlehem, north to the Monroe County line, a total of 32 charges.

Harold N. MacMurray of the Mountainhome Church was elected president for the coming year, with Thomas R. Jeffrey of Wind Gap as vice-president. John C. Carter of Asbury Church, Allentown was elected secretary-treasurer, and Carl R. Hammerly of First Church, Easton, chairman of the program committee.

The schedule of meetings for the year was set: October, at Mountainhome; November, at East Stroudsburg; December, at Asbury Church, Allentown; January, at Wesley Church, Lehigh; February, at Calvary Church, Easton; March, at Canadensis; and April, a joint meeting with the Anthracite Methodist Ministerium at one of the Churches in that area. The annual meeting next year will again be held at Pocono Plateau in June.

New Members

New members were welcomed to the association, as the result of changes in pastorates at the recent Annual Conference: Harold J. Hallam of the Chapman and Bushkill charge; Richard Hess of Lansford; William H. Carmichael, Jr., of Lehigh; W. E. Harner of Mount Pocono; David Powell of Swiftwater Circuit; and C. Daniel Brodhead of Tobyhanna. The devotional period was conducted by Rev. Harold C. Eaton of the East Stroudsburg Church, who also conducted the business session, due to the previous president, Edgar C. Hersh, having been transferred from Mount Pocono to Lansford at the recent conference. A dinner and recreational period followed the business session.

There were 1,264,925,000 cases of soft drinks sold in the United States in 1955.

Honesty Pays Dividends

TORONTO, June 13 (P)—Paul Binneau, a machine operator, went shopping and brought home $18,000. A bundle of $11,000 in cash and $7,000 in checks apparently was mislaid in his grocery box by a clerk at Gordon Weinberg's store who reached into an open safe instead of onto an adjoining shelf for a package.

Gift. Binneau took the money right back and Weinberg presented his wife with a gift.

Lions Club Draws Up Resolution

STROUDSBURG. Lions, following their annual series of field meetings, assembled Tuesday night at Frank McNamara's Gap View Inn.

Lion president Harold L. Miller was in the chair. There was a good attendance and the informal spirit of the Summer meetings prevailed.

Singing was featured, Miller naming Emerson Rahn and Paul Maxwell as song leaders for the program. Al DeRenzi was at the piano.

Next Week. Next week's meeting will be held at Alex Daviduke's hotel, Middle Smithfield.

A resolution of sympathy was ordered drawn and adopted, expressing the sorrow of the club over the illness and death of the late Arthur Everitt, for a quarter century a devoted participant in service club work.

Rahn of the floral committee stated that he had sent a fitting floral tribute on part of the club, to Mr. Everitt's funeral.

Beaver Takes Look At City

PHILADELPHIA, June 13 (P)—A beaver who forsook the woods for city life was in custody today.

The animal was found attempting to cross a busy street in the city's Port Richmond section last night. A passing motorist summoned police, who in turn called in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

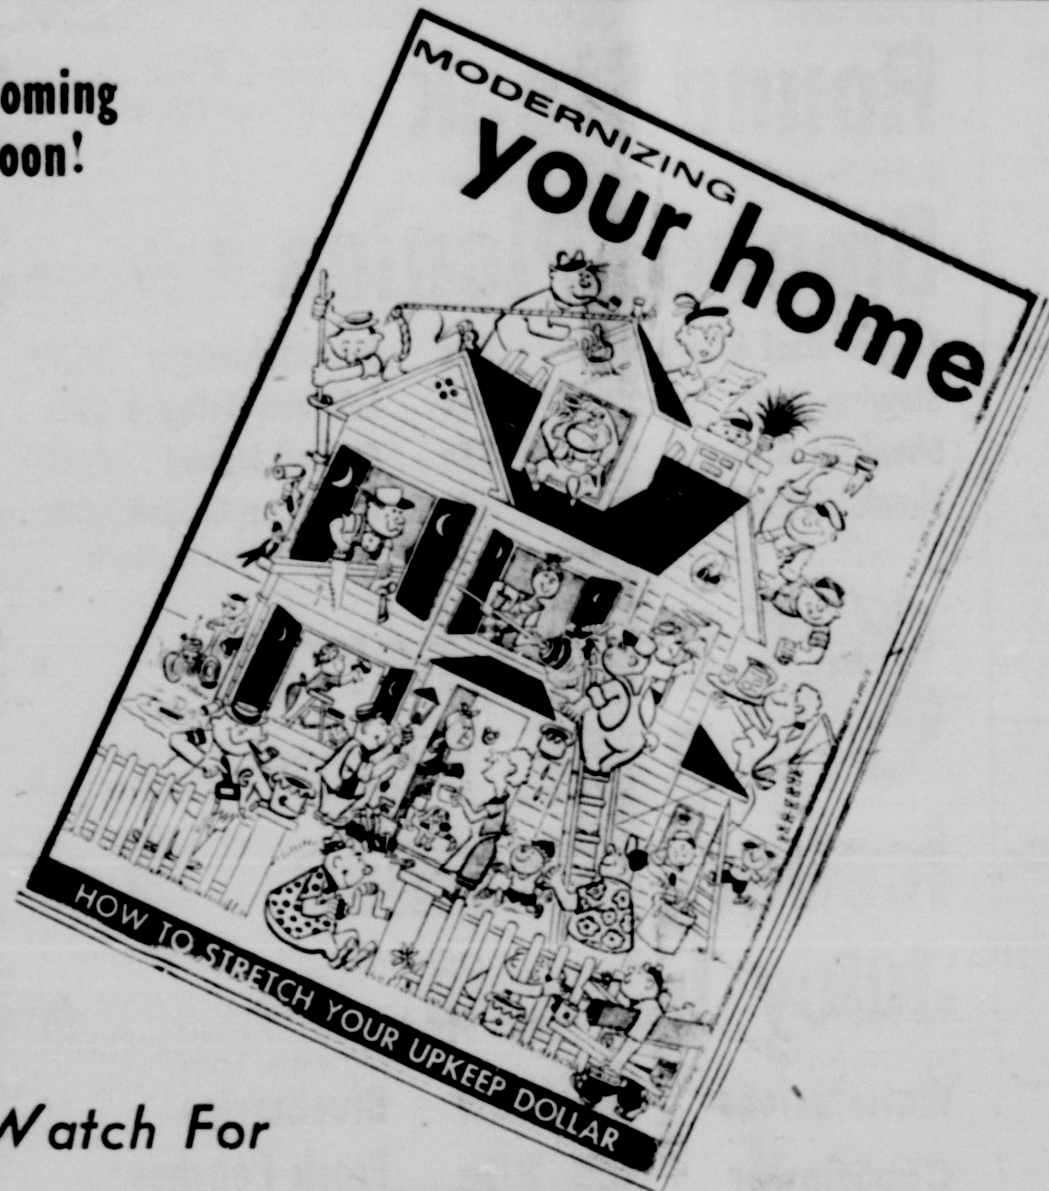

The American Bible Society distributed 14,918,353 volumes of scripture in 1955.

Salvation Army Names Board Head

F. RHODES HENDERER, Pittsburgh, is the first chairman of the new Salvation Army Board of Pennsylvania.

He was elected yesterday at a meeting in Harrisburg at which the board was organized. Henderer is assistant to the director of public relations of U. S. Steel Co.

John S. Peake, Philadelphia, was elected vice chairman; Ralph M. Ritter, Harrisburg, treasurer; Stephen B. Hodges, Bradford, secretary; Harold S. LeDuc, Philadelphia, public relations chairman, and E. Lawrence Worstell, Philadelphia, chairman of budget and finance.

Operations
Henderer said "The Salvation Army will always continue to carry on its operations at the community level and this new state-level advisory board is in no way intended to take the place of the community-level advisory boards. Rather it will supplement them, not supplant them."

"The State Advisory Board will aid the administrative officers in evaluating the adequacy of the Salvation Army services in various communities."

Dealers Make Court Request

HARRISBURG, June 13 (AP)—A Schuylkill County anthracite dealer today asked the Dauphin County Court to throw out a provision in bidding regulations setting up minimum wage standards for dealers selling coal to the state.

The suit was filed by the Legal Coal Co., of Goodspring, rejected bidder on a 50-ton order for rice-size anthracite, against the Department of Property and Supplies, which drew up the regulations.

Weather Bureau Opens Exhibit Showing How Rain Often Ruins Prediction Of Clear Skies

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Weather Bureau opened an exhibit today to show how, after teasing you on to the golf course with the promise of a fair week-end, it comes up rain when you're farthest from the clubhouse.

It isn't easy. For the exhibit at the Commerce Department proves that figuring out what the weather is up to calls for increasingly complex instruments.

A cellometer tells how high those clouds are, a hygrothermograph records the temperature and relative humidity, a microbarograph puts down the barometric pressures, and a radar antenna tells where it's raining, and approximately how much, up to 200 miles away.

The exhibit includes a sample weather station, and checking over details was perky, gray Charles O. Schick, who is in charge of the whole shebang.

"Been a weather man for 43 years," Schick said. "Only eight men have been with the bureau longer. These young bucks complain when they start out at $3,000 a year. Why, when I started we got $30 a month, and liked it."

Schick began as a messenger boy in Reading, Pa., and worked his way up, including stops for forecasting in Drexel, Neb.—"It wasn't even a town, just a farm we used as a weather station"—to Seattle to Salt Lake City to Oklahoma City to Washington, D.C.

Wind Vane
"When I began about all you had were a couple of thermometers, a wind vane and a rain gauge," he said. "Better forecasts today? Sure, they're better. Much better. And you also have such things as five-day and 10-day forecasts. Never dreamed of such things 43 years ago."

To aviation, or to anyone in the path of a bad storm, accurate weather news can be a life-saver. To business, it can be a money-saver. To anyone on a vacation or out for the weekend, it can be a fun-saver.

Most of us are keeping closer tabs on the weather, Schick thinks, which explains those howls when the rain catches us on the golf course.

He uses the farmer to illustrate the change in attitude. "When I started in this business, no farmer paid any attention to what we were doing. Didn't care. They figured they knew more about weather than we did. 'Well, the farmer still thinks he knows more than we do. But now he double checks us.'"

Hill, Washington Crossing, Pa. Members are asked to meet at the Bank Corner on Tuesday morning at 9:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fisher attended the 190th Anniversary Commencement at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., on Wednesday night when their son-in-law Robert Anderson of Highland Park, N. J., was one of the graduates who received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Liberal Arts. There were 1600 in the graduating class.

STUCK IN THE SANDS OF TIME. Don't think that's possible, eh? Well, witness this car. It belongs to Bill Nagle, man from East Orange, N. J. Bill came down here. Drove up around Stokes Mill, down dirt road, along bank of Broadheads. Used to do it all the time, Nagle said, to wash his car. This year—no soap. Car sank down in sand and silt. Nagle said layers of sand underneath must be waterlogged. He got help from Duffy Cavanaugh, Frank Biondo of East Stroudsburg and Ronnie Skinner, Shawnee, in pushing car out.

VICTOR BORGE BRINGS highlights from his Broadway comedy hit, "Comedy in Music," to television tonight. The celebrated comedian will conduct a 45-piece orchestra, a record for musical comedy on TV, in an elaborate Tchaikovsky medley, including excerpts from "Romeo and Juliet," "Eugene Onegin," "The Nutcracker Suite" and the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Symphonies. Whether this will prove one of the comedy highlights or one of the musical highlights of the program, only the unpredictable Mr. Borge knows. The one-hour show (10-11 p.m.) will be seen on Channels 2 & 10.

"Video Theater" inaugurates its summer series with "A House of His Own" over Channels 3 & 4 at 10 p.m. Richard Boone will star as a convict who, after 26 years' re-payment for a crime committed as a college boy, is subject for parole. An outraged public, hearing of the possibility, is up in arms and the ensuing chaos is the story of this drama.

Diana Lynn plays Hilde Frazer, wealthy young woman who is released from a mental hospital only to find herself trapped in a lonely house with a homicidal husband and a phantom prowler in "To Scream at Midnight" on "Climax" on Channels 2 & 10 (8:30 p.m.).

Molly Goldberg's one and only son, Sammy, gets married during tonight's presentation of "The Goldbergs" (Ch. 5 at 7:30 p.m.).

Baseball fans are limited to one game today; Yankees vs. White Sox at 1:55 p.m. (Ch. 11).

Gene Evans, star of "My Friend Flicka," in which he plays the father of the boy who owns Flicka the horse, is happy with the fan mail he's receiving—except for one thing. He's already received two letters addressed to "Flicka's Father."

"Star Tonight," seen on Channels 6 & 7 at 9 p.m., will present "The Long View" tonight. It is the story of a college professor who finds fulfillment after a life of professional disappointment. Lois Holmes and Henry Hull are starred.

John B. Ely, who has just graduated from the University of California in Los Angeles at 86, will appear as Jack Slattery's special guest on the vacationing Art Linkletter's "House Party" today (2:30 p.m.) on Channels 2 & 10. Ely achieved a lifelong ambition to earn a degree after eight years of plugging.

Current Movies

Opening today at the Grand Theater, East Stroudsburg, is "The Bold and the Brave," starring Wendell Corey, Mickey Rooney, Don Taylor and Nicole Maurey.

"The Man Who Knew Too Much" is playing tonight at the Sherman Theater, Stroudsburg. James Stewart and Doris Day are the stars.

"Stranger on Horseback" featuring Joel McCrea, and "The Big Combo," starring Cornell Wilde and Jean Wallace, open at the Blue Ridge Drive-In, Saylorsburg, tonight.

A double bill also will be presented at the Pocono Drive-In, Bartonsville. "The Desperate Women" is the one attraction; the other is "The Bed."

The Green ThumbKill Rose Bugs, Diseases By Applying Insecticide, Fungicide At Early Date

DON'T WAIT UNTIL ROSE BUGS and diseases hit your roses before you take action. Right now's the time your roses should be covered with a good fungicide and insecticide if you want to avoid trouble later.

Incidentally, ever have a rose bud that just wouldn't bloom? In most instances that trouble is due to a small insect known as the midge. The midge lives in the ground, comes up the stems and kills the buds when they're very tiny. They penetrate the tiny bud when it's first expanding and when the shoot has finally formed there's nothing but a mummy of a bud at the end of the shoot and that's why you often get no flowers.

What's the best kind of rose bug and disease killer to use? We've got all this information in our bulletin, "Controlling Diseases and Insects of Roses" and if you'd like a copy for your Green Thumb library, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No postal cards, please, friends.

Raise Some Squash

Squash is easy to raise, and hard to beat for eating. Buttercup is a good winter squash for eating or freezing. And there's another winter squash known as Butternut. It has thick meat, solid, sweet flesh easy to prepare for the table and pies. Butternut is more resistant to vine borers and makes a fine keeper even though it ripens rather early. For a good summer squash, you might try Yank Hybrid (yellow).

Mountain Ash

Here's a handsome tree for the home lawn. We like the broad clusters of creamy white flowers in May, and the clusters of bright orange berries all summer, fall, and winter. Sometimes the tree bears a lot of flowers, but only a few berries. This may be due to weather conditions at flowering time—too cold to too wet, allowing only partial pollination. It's a heavy drain on the tree to produce lots of seeds, and that's why you get a big show one year, and a skippy one another year.

There's nothing that will force a mountain ash to bloom until it's ready. Troubles: This is a member of the rose family and is subject to same diseases found on apples, including rust, fireblight, scale and borers. Spray with malathion, 1 teaspoon to a pint of water to kill the mountain ash sawfly. Cut any cankers you see, and if borers are present, poke them out with hot wires. Berries are unfit to eat, but are good for birds.

Quick Facts about HOUSEPOWER

Today, the average home uses 3 times as much electricity as it did 15 years ago. That's why 4 out of 5 homes now suffer from low HOUSEPOWER. This is true even of brand new homes. Here are the conditions that cause you to have low HOUSEPOWER:

1. Inadequate electrical service entrance. To overcome this basic cause of low HOUSEPOWER, you should have service entrance capacity of at least 100 amperes. This requires 3-wire service from the street.
2. Overloaded circuits. Too many appliances on one circuit overload it and none of them get enough power. Motors may even burn out. If the overload is too great, the fuse will blow or circuit-breaker trip. You should have enough branch circuits to distribute enough electricity to all appliances.
3. Insufficient outlets. Some homeowners use extension cords and "octopus" outlets (2- and 3-way plugs), or plug into lighting outlets. Such practices are unsightly, inconvenient, and may be dangerous. Rearranging furniture doesn't help. The only safe solution is to add more circuits and outlets.

These are the symptoms of low HOUSEPOWER: lights dimming when appliances are turned on; blown fuses or tripped circuit-breakers; TV pictures shrinking when other appliances are turned on; appliances working inefficiently or taking too long to heat up.

If any of these symptoms are present in your home call your electric company, electrician or electrical contractor for a wiring check-up. If added wiring is necessary, your electrician or electrical contractor will do the job quickly, neatly, economically. It often takes less than a day. Remember, full HOUSEPOWER increases the value of your home.
